

LABOR UNIONS JOIN TO WAGE WAR ON EMPLOYERS

Divided Branches of the Old Board of Building Trades Reunite for a Final Struggle with the Men Who Locked Them Out—Stop Emergency Work.

"No exception will be made to taking men from work on the schools. Sentiment can play no part in the fight that is now on between the striking workmen and the employers," Sam Parks said this afternoon.

This statement was made to-day by the labor leader after he, with other walking delegates, had visited six jobs in various parts of the city and ordered the men from work. The places visited were Sixty-fourth and Sixty-fifth streets and Central Park West.

One job is that of Isaac Hopper & Sons, the other is that of Elditz. Another of Elditz's jobs from which the men were called is at Thirtieth street and University place. The other jobs tied up were a department store, a building at Thirty-fourth street and Madison avenue and the new Y. M. C. A. building at Twenty-third street and Seventh avenue.

"This makes the building tie-up complete," said Parks. "Everybody is out except the men working for the Fuller Company, with whom we have an eighteen months' agreement. This will be an object lesson to the employers. They started the trouble and now that they have tried to jam their arbitration theories down our throats they will have to come to us. There can be no compromise on their terms."

The members of the United Board of Building Trades and of the seceding Board of Building Mechanics will hold meetings this afternoon, when it will be formally announced that the Building

Material Drivers' and Handlers' unions, over which the first strike occurred, have withdrawn from the United Board of Building Trades.

Will Re-enter Board. Upon this information the seceding mechanics will re-enter the United Board, with John J. Donovan as president and William H. Farley as secretary.

The Board reunites so as to wage a final fight on the employers, the matter in dispute being the demand of the Employers' Association that the walking delegates shall be dismissed and that differences between the employers and employees shall be adjusted by a committee on conciliation or board of arbitration.

By re-electing the walking delegates, among them Parks, a few days ago, the unions signified their purpose of maintaining the delegates and indorsed their actions in calling strikes. At least that is the view the Employers' Association has taken of it.

The Employers' Association has issued an ultimatum that no work would be done in the city, except emergency work, until the unions discharge their walking delegates and accept the new plan of arbitration.

With the United Board of Building Trades reunited, the union building workers have decided that there shall not even be "emergency" work, that in retaliation for the lockout they will strike, and it was on this "emergency" work that the men were called out yesterday and to-day.

LORENZ SCORES ANOTHER SUCCESS

Removes Plaster Cast from Little Alvin Black, Cripple to Whom J. Ogden Armour Sent the Famous Vienna Surgeon.

At the State Hospital for Crippled Children in Tarrytown this afternoon Dr. Adolf Lorenz, the Vienna orthopedic expert, removed the plaster cast from the leg of little Alvin Black, whose dislocated hip he put in place on his first visit to New York. It was found that the operation was successful, and little Alvin will play and with the other boys of Tarrytown as though he had never been a cripple.

The boy is the son of a poor canal boatman. He read in the newspaper of the operation upon Lolita, of Chicago, and wrote a sympathetic letter to her, telling of his own condition and sending her a wooden doll, whittled out by himself. The letter was so pitiful that Mr. J. Ogden Armour, father of Lolita, commissioned Dr. Lorenz to go to Tarrytown and straighten out the deformed limb of little Alvin.

Will Do Little Work.

"I am tired and will do very little work during the remainder of my stay in the United States," he said. "Tomorrow I go to Philadelphia, where I will take the plaster casts from fifteen little ones I operated on there at the time of my last visit. These children will be brought to one hospital and I hope that all of the operations will prove to have been successful."

"One of the most gratifying incidents of my visit was a trip to Tuxedo yesterday with Dr. Wissner R. Townsend to remove a cast from little Esther Lyons, whose limb I straightened last December."

"I confess that I started on the journey with trepidation. When the child was brought to me to be operated on her case looked absolutely hopeless. My assistant agreed with me that there was a bare chance that we might do some good, but we didn't want to take the chance. At last, yielding to the importunities of those who brought the child to me, I performed the operation."

"To my surprise when I removed the cast yesterday I found the dislocation entirely healed. It was really one of the most satisfactory cases I have observed. In a short time this little one will dance and run. I am glad I took that chance."

Will Visit Lolita Armour.

"Day after tomorrow I go to Beach Bluff, near Boston, the summer home of Mrs. Ogden Armour, to say good-bye to my little girl, Lolita. She has gained sixteen pounds since the plaster cast was removed in Chicago and is one of the liveliest, sunniest, happiest children I ever saw."

"I shall return to the United States in a year and a half."

Mohler, from the Westchester station; and James J. Consett, from the West Thirtieth street station. The men have not yet been assigned to precincts.

Mrs. Mary Young, who lives at No. 171 Perry street, was terribly burned last night and died to-day in St. Vincent's Hospital.

The woman had been a sufferer from heart disease for years. Last night she was moving about her flat carrying a small kerosene lamp. Just how her light wrapper caught fire is unknown. Robert Miller, a teamster, living at No. 63 Water street, was passing and saw the flaming clothing. He rushed upstairs to Mrs. Young's assistance and, wrapping a rug about the woman, extinguished the flames.

The lower part of the victim's body was burned to a crisp. She was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital in an ambulance and the funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at her late residence.

POLICE BATTER DOORS OF ALLEGED POOLROOM

Had Information that 250 Men Had Entered the Place, but Could Find No Trace of Them.

A score of policemen are searching the four-story double house at Nos. 28 and 30 East Twelfth street, supposed to be a pool-room, in the hope of locating "250 persons" who entered the place from 2 to 4:15 o'clock this afternoon, the hour of the raid.

Information and complaints regarding the place have been dinning into the ears of the police captain of the Sixteenth Precinct until he decided to make a raid. The houses were surrounded and men placed on the roofs of adjoining structures to prevent the escape of any pool-room gamblers.

A patrol wagon dashed up to the house and the officers proceeded to batter down four doors with axes before they gained admittance. A search showed the place to be furnished simply for living purposes. Three men were found sitting in a room, but there was not the slightest trace of pool-room paraphernalia to be seen. The disgruntled officers are convinced the "250 persons" seen to enter the house are still there, and are searching with the keenness of Sherlock Holmes, to locate their hiding place.

MAFIA NAMED IN TROY SHOOTING.

Prisoner Accused of Threatening Vengeance of Secret Order on Man He Shot.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., June 26.—Rafaelo Bova, of Schenectady, who was shot and fatally wounded in Troy by Joseph Joulotto, of that city, died at the Troy City Hospital last night from his wounds. Bova was shot during a quarrel, and Joulotto, who was arrested, claims he acted in self-defense.

Bova, it is alleged, tried to get Joulotto to give him $50 said to have been owing him, threatening the vengeance of the Mafia if the demand was not complied with.

Local Italians declare they knew nothing of the existence of a branch of the Mafia here.

ADMINISTRATOR IN CHARGE.

Counsel for Contestants of William Wellesell's Will Made Motion.

Surrogate Fitzgerald has decided to put the estate of William Wellesell, the octogenarian who died at the boarding-house No. 44 Lexington avenue, leaving an estate of $135,000 for his relatives to fight in the hands of a temporary administrator until the contest over the will in April is ended.

Charles Putzel, counsel for the contestants, who claim that the signature to the will actually apella the old man's name wrong, applied for a temporary administrator, and his motion was granted to-day, but no one has as yet been selected.

Morris Stern, husband of Mr. Wellesell's niece, was named as an executor in the will, and about one-fifth of the estate was bequeathed to him and his family.

RESCUES HER SMALL DAUGHTER AT A FIRE.

Mrs. T. Mullin Carries Thirteen-Year-Old Girl Down Four Flights Through Smoke to Street.

Mrs. Thomas Mullin, who lives on the fourth floor of the apartment-house at No. 221 West One Hundred and Fifth street, carried her thirteen-year-old daughter Sadie downstairs through the smoke to the street when a small blaze started in the flat of R. Moses, who lives on the second floor.

Mrs. Mullin was followed by Mrs. J. Ferguson, clad in a pink kimono, who frantically urged the terror-stricken mother to "Hurry up, or we all will be burned."

The blaze started in the rear of the Moses' apartments on the second floor. In a room opening on the air shaft, the flames ignited the window casings on the floor above, and there was a nice blaze burning when the Fire Department arrived.

Martin Pender, the janitor, and his wife were working in the hallway when the fire was discovered. Pender notified the tenants, all of whom reached the street in safety.

The pupils of the Wadleigh High School, which is across the street, were being dismissed as the Fire Department arrived. The school was shut by the teachers, and the scholars were sent out of the One Hundred and Fourteenth street entrance. The cause of the fire is unknown; loss about $500.

Love that he had sent her threatening letters. Mrs. Love is the widow of Dr. Love, who died recently on the steamship Aurania.

Mrs. Love did not appear in court, but was represented by her sister, Mrs. Octavia Hill. Two of the letters were produced in court. They were disconnected and almost unrecognizable. The prisoner presented a wild appearance in court and appeared to be insane. Nothing was said by the magistrate, and he was committed to Bellevue Hospital for examination as to his sanity.

CRUSADE IS BEGUN AGAINST USURERS.

Rabbi Heller Appears as Complainant Against Aaron Bloch, Who Is Held For Trial.

Aaron Bloch, a money-lender, of No. 336 Grand street, was arraigned before Magistrate Breckenridge to-day charged with usury. The complainant was Rabbi Abraham Heller, of No. 12 Pitt street.

Rabbi Heller said that he borrowed $100 from Bloch on Jan. 4, 1902, giving a four-months note and a chattel mortgage on everything in his house. After paying back $125 he demanded his note, and Bloch refused to give it to him.

Detective Sergeant Clark, who investigated the complaint, seized Bloch's books and gathered in his confidential man, Victor Hasinsky, who confessed that Bloch received $25,000 last year on a capital of $10,000. Assistant District Attorney Peckner has been given charge of the Bloch prosecution and announces that it is the beginning of a campaign against east side usurers.

THINKING OF WORK MADE HIM INSANE.

Like the man who became insane through the irritating iteration of having to button up his clothes in the morning and unbutton them at night, Charles Senner, twenty-five years old, of No. 156 Throop avenue, Brooklyn, was overcome by the persistent necessity of having to work for a living.

The irksomeness of daily toil palled on him. On Monday last he told his father the tracks near the West side crossing that he had decided to keep on working for his living all his life the sooner he was dead the quicker he would be through with trouble. That was the last his father saw of him.

USES RAZOR AND HAMMER.

Goes to Room of Woman He Loved and Before She Can Escape He Slashes Her to Death—Puts a Bullet in His Own Head.

SHERMAN, Conn., June 26.—Angered over her refusal to marry him, P. H. Worden, of Carmel, N. Y., to-day killed Edith Roscoe also of that town, to whom he had been devoted; wounded her sister-in-law, Mrs. Sherman Roscoe, perhaps fatally, and then attempted to take his own life.

Both Worden, who is about forty years old, and Miss Roscoe, who was twenty, have recently been visiting her brother Sherman Roscoe. The latter manages the farm of Orlando Pepper, two and a half miles from this village.

At 5 o'clock this morning while Roscoe and Pepper were in the barn Worden went to the girl's room and cut her throat with a razor, inflicting wounds from which she died within an hour. He then went down stairs, and entering the kitchen where Mrs. Roscoe was preparing breakfast, struck her on the head with a hammer, crushing her skull.

The cries of Mrs. Roscoe brought Roscoe and Pepper quickly from the barn, but they were too late to save her from Worden's attack. They found Mrs. Roscoe lying unconscious on the floor of the kitchen, while a few feet away Worden also lay, unconscious and bleeding from two wounds. He had shot himself with a revolver in the temple and had cut his throat with the razor. Upstairs the girl was dying or her injuries.

Dr. Woodruff, ex-State Senator, was summoned, but was unable to save the life of the young woman. He attended to the wounds of Mrs. Roscoe and had her removed to the hospital in Danbury, where it is reported that she has slight chance of recovery. Worden remains at the Pepper farm-house. He is expected to die.

What She Learned at the Old Home.

After being away from the old home for years folks sometimes go back and find some surprising changes. An Ohio lady says she learned something valuable about coffee when I went home.
